Summary

An attractive smile is become a want of everyone in the current society we live and every patient today seek us for the same. The importance given to the soft tissue in smile reconstruction is often very minimal, but the success of the entire smile make over process depends on the look and health of the soft tissue. The wow smiles do have a great gingival component. This lecture will discuss the various situations from simple crown lengthening and tissue management to Pontic site development to implant site management. Every situation needs a specific protocol to be followed and the same will be discussed with case presentations. The longterm success of our restorative work primarily revolves around the health of the soft tissues.
